Media Production—Handpicked Courses for a Five Credit Option with Brice Unland

Thursday, March 4, 2010

4:30 pm to 5:30 pm

Please log on at 4:00 pm to do your mic & speaker test!

$20

ABOUT THE SESSION:

Working your way through the plethora of options available to you in the CTS curriculum can be daunting. This webinar will outline a co functional selection of modules to use in your class. Built around a five credit option focusing on the production of multimedia (video, sound, distribution, etc) , the webinar will walk you through the reasoning behind the five selections, how they work towards offering an advanced class of another five modules, and the tools needed to complete the curricular objectives. Questions and ideas on implantation and execution will be answered.

ABOUT THE FACILITATOR:

Brice Unland is a Media Production and Social Studies teacher at the high school level. He has pioneered and created three separate CTS options in his district, Robotics, Claymation, and most recently Media Production. His focus is on making technology and its use meaningful and relevant to students. By exploring new and creative avenues in the CTS curriculum, he hopes more students will find their talent and pursue nontraditional careers.
